JAPANESE TROOPS AT DALNY NOW

General Oku Reports That the Russians Destroyed But Very Little Valuable Property When They Retreated.

Newchwang, June 1.—Chinese fugitives from Port Arthur describe the situation of the inhabitants there as desperate. Famine prices exist. The cost of provisions increases weekly. Many persons are reduced to eating Chinese food, and even that is dear. Millet flour costs $6 a bag. Whole streets and several public buildings have been wrecked by Japanese shell fire. The hospitals are packed with sick and wounded.

The work of repairing the damaged warships has been stopped. All civilians have been given military duties.

Die of Starvation.

The general health of the inhabitants is poor, except that the Chinese are dying of starvation. Their food is not known, but it was possibly the Boer.

It is evident that the Russians fled quickly when Nanchang was lost, expecting that Gen. Oku would immediately take possession of Dalny. All previous reports of the occupation of the town were false.

Bandits Rake on Dalny.

Chefoo, June 1.—Five hundred Chinese refugees from Port Arthur and Tallinn arrived here Tuesday. After sifting their conflicting stories it appears that the Russians left Tallinn May 26 for Port Arthur, after burning everything likely to be of use to the Japanese. They sent three large merchantmen, the Zeli, Borela and Nagadan, and all the dredgers and launches.

been made punishable by death.

The railway is completely destroyed as far as Kheon, and there are frequent gaps in it between Kheon and Wafangtien. At Wafangtien there are 15,000 Japanese troops, but no sign of troops farther north.

During the fighting at Kheon 200 Chinese were killed by the Japanese fire.

Japanese Occupy Dalny.

Tokio, June 1.—Japanese troops occupied Dalny Monday. Gen. Oku reports the Russian barracks and warehouses, the railway and telegraph stations, and more than 100 buildings were uninjured. He reports further that the Russians left 200 railway cars intact, which the Japanese can use. All the small railroad bridges in the vicinity of the town were destroyed.

The Russians destroyed the largest pier, but all other docks and smaller piers are uninjured. Several steam launches were sunk at the entrance to the dock. The harbor jetties are uninjured.

The Russians also destroyed the gunboat used at Tallinn against the Japanese fleet during the battle of Nanchang. The name of the Washington, June 1.—Word has been sent the Moroccan Government by the State Department on the order of the President of the United States to insist that the Moroccan Government capture and execute the brigand Raisul, should he carry out his threat of killing Perdicaris. The United States assumes this attitude regardless of the position of any other power.

SUIT CLEARS MYSTERY
OF MURDER IN GOTHAMMan Seeks to Recover Large Sum
From Negro, Who Was Indirect
Cause of the Crime.

New York, June 1.—The persistent contention by the friends of the late Andrew H. Green, the venerable philanthropist who was shot down at the door of his Park avenue residence by the negro, Cornelius Williams, that the murderer mistook him for another man in borne out by a suit which has been started in the supreme court by John R. Platt, an octogenarian millionaire, against Mrs. Hannah Elias, the negro who was the indirect cause of the murder, for the recovery of nearly $1,000,000 worth of property obtained from him by blackmail. Mrs. Elias is a beautiful octogenarian and has passed for a Spaniard.

In a 10,000-word affidavit supporting his claim to property now held by Mrs. Elias Mr. Platt tells the story of his relations with the woman, which began in 1836 and have continued up to the present month.

That he was the gray-haired man whose attentions to Mrs. Elias excited the jealousy of the demented Williams; that he was the aged admirer who was much seen at the Central park establishment and was known to some as "Mr. Green" and to others as Mr. Platt there seems now to be no doubt.

Cornelius Williams, crazed by jealousy, sought for months to find the man who had elevated Mrs. Elias from the obscurity of a negro boarding house keeper to the mistress of a man with oriental servants and a splendid stable. He knew him only as "Mr. Green" and he confessed in statements made before his trial that he hit on Andrew H. Green as the man because he was the only man of the name in the city with sufficient wealth to cause this metamorphosis in the woman he loved and because the description he had of the mysterious "Mr. Green" almost exactly fitted the "father of greater New York."

Four persons were injured, one of them probably fatally, in the partial collapse of the old-fashioned four-story brick building in East Eighth street, New York city, which was occupied by a saloon and two small firms of hat manufacturers.

Fire cremated thirty-five horses and destroyed the livery stable of Ray Riggs at Waukesha, Wis. The body of Actor Keene, who was found drowned in a pail of water the day before, was cremated by the burning of the undertaking-room adjoining the stable.

NOVEL PLAN TO
DISBAR PLAYERCoach Kilpatrick Has His Eyes on One of Michigan's Big Men in Athletics.

Madison, Wis., June 1.—A jolly bit of intercollegiate controversy is being framed up by Graduate Manager C. H. Kilpatrick of the University of Wisconsin, who is gathering material to maintain a protest of Lehigh Turner, who is presumed to be slated as the star tackle on the University of Michigan football eleven this fall. The basis of the protest will be that fact that Turner left Dartmouth college before he had graduated and was played on the Michigan baseball team before he had been in that institution for a year, as required by the intercollegiate rules. Turner is a great athlete. In build and in ability. He weighs 220 pounds and has a back as broad as a yard stick. This same broad back was grief to the Wisconsin nine on the occasion of its recent game at Ann Arbor. Wisconsin had the game in hand when Catcher Lehigh threw a ball to first base to put out Turner. Turner's back was in the way. The ball hit it, rolled wide and Michigan thereby scored three unearned runs, winning the game by a score of three to two. Now Manager Kilpatrick is taking steps which he hopes will eliminate Turner's back and drawn from the route of Wisconsin to the football championship. He played a great game for Dartmouth last fall at tackle, causing the great showing of Dartmouth against the leading eastern teams, was "attracted" to Michigan and is scheduled to play on the Wolverines eleven this fall. He will then have been at Ann Arbor for the required year, but the Wisconsin manager asserts that because he was allowed by Michigan to play baseball too soon, he cannot be eligible for football.

Vinceland, N. J., June 1.—Eighty years old and an advocate of the bloomer costume, which she has worn for half a century, Miss Susan P. Flower of this place will be married to George Edward Fowler of La Motte, Minn., the last of June.

Although bride and bridegroom are of the same name, they are not related. Miss Fowler is one of the original dress reformers. She conducted a farm here for forty years and would never have a man around.

At the age of 80 years she concluded her farming days were over and she must have a man around.

George Edward Fowler, aged 46 years, applied for the position. The answering letter pleased him, and in his reply he intimated that his real object was seeking a wife. Correspondence followed, and finally, Miss Fowler says, the psychic forces drew her with irresistible force toward the man of all men in the universe created for her.

Services.

Beaver, Pa., June 1.—Thousands of people of all classes viewed the remains of the late Senator Matthew Stanley Quay as they lay in state in the First Presbyterian church Tuesday morning, and as many as could find room in the office attended the public services in the afternoon.

Crape hung from every business house and many residences in Beaver. The business pulse of the entire Beaver valley ceased to throb while the body of the late political leader was being lowered to its final resting place in the little Beaver cemetery. Between the hours of 2 and 4 p. m., while the services were being held, not a wheel revolved in any of the numerous mills and workshops in the towns of Beaver, Rochester, New Simple Ceremonies.

At the public services a committee of the United States senate was in charge as a guard of honor. The services were marked by simplicity. The Rev. D. Appleton Bash of the Methodist Episcopal church offered the opening prayer. A passage from the Scriptures was read by the Rev. Mr. Fields of the Church of Christ, and the Rev. J. R. Ramsey, pastor of the Presbyterian church, delivered the funeral oration. The closing prayer

EXTRA PAPERS AT
OFFICE GO FASTTen Thousand Copies of Beet Sugar
Special Were Printed and Mailed Yesterday.

It took three tons of paper to print the Great Beet Sugar edition of the Gazette, issued last night and four wagon loads of mail carried the ten thousand papers to the trains in thirty-five huge mail sacks. This morning nearly every farmer in Rock county had the paper delivered at his door. Aside from these copies, papers were sent last night to all parts of the globe in and out of this country. Papers went to Japan, England, the Philippines, in fact almost to every land where English is spoken. It was a great edition and spoke for Greater Janesville. It has taken eight weeks to get the material for this paper ready and print it. There were three sections of eight pages and one section of twelve pages. Each section took two hours to run on the press. One remarkable feature of the edition was the fact that every mail was caught last night and that every extra paper ordered was sent to its proper destination. There was over twenty-five hundred inches of advertising in the edition and every phase of Janesville life was depicted. There are still a few extra copies in the office and all today the mailing clerks have been busy filling orders for ten, twenty, or fifty papers which will be sent out of the city to extol Janesville's greatness to the world at large.

CROP REPORT IS ENCOURAGING

GENERAL AIR OF PROSPERITY
THROUGH STATE.

WHILE EVERYTHING IS LATE

The Outlook is Good for a Banner
Crop in Wisconsin This Year.

General Remarks: The weather for the past week has been very unfavorable for farm work, owing to the heavy and continued rains and low temperature the fore part of the week. The ground was rendered too wet for the completion of corn and potato planting. In some sections rain fell five days out of seven. In the latter part of the period, however, the temperature increased and materially ameliorated the backward condition of growing crops, and was especially beneficial to vegetation, causing a rapid advance to growth of pastures and the budding of fruit trees. In a few localities light frosts were reported but no damage resulted. The higher ground in most sections during the past few days is in condition to be tilled, but the lowlands, especially in the northern section, are too wet. Some localities being under water and damage is reported to grains. A week of dry and warm weather is needed and would mark a rapid advance in growing crops.

In the extreme southeast portion of the State complaint is made of the lack of rain, soil being too dry for the germination of corn.

Winter Wheat and Rye: The continued unfavorable weather has impeded the advancement of these grains, but late reports show a healthy if not rapid growth, where not winter-killed; some fields have been plowed up and sown in oats and barley.

Spring Grains: Oats, barley, wheat and rye have made considerable advance except upon the wet lowlands. The backward weather has retarded the growth to a great extent but otherwise these grains promise well and the condition is generally satisfactory.

Corn: The complaint is general of the corn not germinating, the weather has greatly retarded the planting and ed. In some sections the planting is at a standstill, owing to the extremely wet condition of the soil, and many fields have been replanted on account of rotting of the grain. In the southern portion of the State planting is practically completed, while in the northern it is scarcely begun. Warm and dry weather is greatly needed to finish the seedling and proper germination of the grain.

Potatoes: The planting of potatoes has been greatly retarded by the heavy rains, rendering the ground too wet to prepare for planting. Some sections, however, have made considerable progress, but in the north section the ground is still too wet for proper cultivation. The fields planted show very slow sprouting.

Meadows and Pastures: Practically all reports show a rapid and abundant growth of grass, pastures being in fine condition, and hay fields indicate a heavy yield.

Minor Crops: The outlook for a large yield of sugar beets is very promising, although backward growth, many fields have advanced sufficiently to be under cultivation. Gardens are materially advanced and all kinds of truck is in excellent condition.

Fruit: The outlook for fruit is most encouraging. Apple trees especially show an unusual amount of blossoms. Cherry, peach, and plum trees, while not so well advanced as apples, are in remarkably fine condition, considering the severe winter. In some localities the latter were winter-killed. During the past week all fruit trees and berry bushes have made remarkable progress. The weather has been unfavorable for strawberries; however, with more sunning the crop will be abundant. Cranberries are in excellent condition.

Extracts from Correspondents' Reports

Eagle River, Vilas County: Grain coming up; clover looking well; considerable ploughing done for corn and potatoes; planting will be commenced soon.—Wm. Persohn.

Abbotsford, Clark County: Cold rain first part of week; all crops looking well; warmer latter part of week; plenty of moisture.—G. F. Schmidt.

Ripon, Fond du Lac County: Past week has been cool with considerable rainfall; corn planting not completed; pastures and early oats look well.—G. G. Goodrich.

Hilbert, Calumet County: Last days of week improved condition of grain crops, which had commenced to turn yellow; rains have delayed planting.—G. A. Cressy.

Janesville, Rock County: Corn nearly all planted; a large acreage of sugar beets put in and looking good; tobacco acreage somewhat reduced.—Walter Helms.

PIONEER ROAD OF ST. PAUL SYSTEM

One of the Means by Which Greater Janesville Has Been Developed.

To the growth of the city, the welfare of its inhabitants and the prosperity of the citizens in general, the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad company has added much in the improvement line to the beautifying and establishing of our city as a most central location for many manufacturers, who claim that they can get the best shipping facilities from this road that can be afforded by much larger cities throughout the west, therefore in this way the company has done much to secure the addition of many factories to Janesville that otherwise would not have been located here were it not for the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul road having lent a helping hand to the city, through its excellent service that it renders to its patrons.

New Depot.
Owing to the growing business of the company it became necessary a short time ago to erect a new passenger depot. This depot was built just north of where the old depot stood and was occupied by January 18, 1903, and cost in the neighborhood of $25,000. The traveling public knows it as one of the finest passenger depots in the state, which is a credit to the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul company, as well as an ornament to the city of Janesville. The wants of the traveler is well taken care of at the local ticket office by M. P. Justinger, who is a genial and efficient man behind the window of the local ticket office. The depot also has an excellent lunch counter which is under the able supervision of Mrs. Scheller, where the hungry passengers can at all times be served with the best that the market affords. The baggage room is in charge of Grant Noyes, who is always ready to accommodate and oblige the patrons of the road.

Its Passenger Service.
During the past year the company has added many new facilities to its already excellent facilities for the traveler, until now it has some thirty-five passenger trains coming and going through Janesville each day, among them are several electric lighted, vestibuled parlor cars, all of which are equipped with all the modern conveniences that could be desired by the traveling public.

New Branch.
The Janesville & Southwestern road is another branch of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, which has added much to the convenience of its patrons both in passenger and freight service. This line was built about two years ago and is an addition of some 99 miles to its present system.

Employees Many Hands.
The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad company in this city employ in the neighborhood of five hundred men in different positions. This alone is a great benefit to the city to have a company employing such a large number of men, the merchants are benefited, and all business interests are much better off for having to rely upon the railroads for a helping hand in their business of the city.

New Freight Depot.
The company has within the past two years built a new freight depot which cost in the neighborhood of $13,000, this has been built on North Main street, nearer the business district to give the manufacturers and shippers of the road a more convenient place to get their merchandise at the earliest possible moment after it is received. The freight depot is built of brick and has a capacity of many thousands feet floor space, and furnishes most excellent accommodations to the shippers over their road.

Mechanical Department.
The mechanical department of the company is looked after by Master Mechanic John C. Fox, one of the oldest employees of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad. Mr. Fox was the first engineer to pull a train into Janesville over the road some fifty years ago. He has spent most of his life in the railroad business, and worked from the bottom of the ladder up to the present position he now holds, and is held in the highest esteem by the railroad officials of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad.

BAND PUTS IT UP TO THE PEOPLE

To Decide Whether or Not There
Are To Be Any Concerts This Summer—They Are Responding.

The Imperial Band is not dead yet. Prompt present indications the citizens of Janesville are not going to allow it to die. Manager John L. Fletcher and Leader Al. Knapp circulated a subscription list this morning and met a business response in most of the city and it seems probable that a sufficient fund will be raised to guarantee the series of ten band concerts this summer. If present plans mature the first of the series will be given on the east side in about three weeks. It will probably be on a Monday evening, that having been the regular night in the past. Five of the concerts will be given on the west side and five on the east. A move on the part of the city to erect a band-stand in the lower portion of the court house park is favored by several of the aldermen and a plan for such a stand may be submitted at the council meeting this evening. A suggestion has been of erecting a band-stand to be a good one, that the stand be so constructed that it can be taken down at the close of the season.

The Highway Committee. The highway committee of the city council will meet at two o'clock this afternoon to sign the papers for leasing the stone quarry and transact some important business connected with the new bridge.

AFTER ROSEBUD AGENCY LANDS

Albert Hoffmaster, Formerly of This City, Will Be One of the Claim Filers.

Thousands of Wisconsin residents are interested in the opening for settlement of the Rosebud Indian Reservation in Gregory county, South Dakota, and both the Milwaukee and the North-Western roads are doing much to extend the interest in the opening. From the number of inquiries which have reached the local office of these two companies, averaging about fifty a day, it is evident that a large number of prospective homesteaders will go to that territory from this section.

The portion of the reservation thrown open to settlement by the president's proclamation covers 332,000 acres, and constitutes one of the richest bits of land left for government homesteads. It is in the heart of a splendid farming country.

According to the terms of the president's proclamation, the land will be disposed of at $1 an acre, payable as follows: $1 an acre cash at the time of homestead entry, 75 cents an acre within two years, 75 cents an acre within three years, and 75 cents an acre within six months after the expiration of five years after entry. Registration for the lands must be made from July 5 to July 23 at Chamberlain or Yankton, S. D.

To prevent the usual rush which is made at such openings for the best portions of the territory, the proclamation of the president provides that in this case the order in which the choice homesteads shall be made shall be made shall be determined by a public drawing at Chamberlain, Thursday, July 28. The successful applicants, in turn, will then be given two days after the drawing to make selections. Soldiers and sailors honorably discharged from the service of the government are entitled to homesteads without paying the usual fees.

Janesville will be represented in person by Albert Hoffmaster, who formerly lived here but is now on the road for the Carson, Pirie, Scott & Chicago. Mr. Hoffmaster spent a day in the city visiting friends and stated that he planned to be in Chamberlain on July 28, at which time he would register for land in the hopes of securing a choice corner lot in some one of the numerous cities that are to be built as soon as the reservation is opened.

LAW DEPARTMENT'S NEW REQUIREMENT

Entrance Examinations Will Be Much
Stricter This Coming University Year.

Janesville young men who have their eye upon the Law department of the university should carefully look over the increased requirements which are to go into effect. The college of law of the university has issued its annual bulletin, containing a statement of the work of the school for the next year and showing the changes to be made in the courses of instruction. The principal change is in the requirements for admission. Hitherto the main requirement for admission has been a previous education equivalent to a course in an accredited high school of this state, with the option to the faculty of requiring the candidate to take up additional work in English if they deem it necessary to the suitable preparation of the student.

The rule has now been changed so that beginning with the university year 1905-6 all candidates for admission who expect to receive the degree of bachelor of laws must present additional credits equivalent to the work of the freshman year in the college of letters and science, and beginning with the year 1907-8 all such candidates must present credits equivalent to the work of the freshman and sophomore years.

Raises School Standard.
This change places the entrance requirements of this law school above those of any other in the United States, with the exception of those at Harvard, Columbia and Leland Stanford, where a full college degree is required of all candidates for a law degree.

An important change has been made in the course to be taken in preparation for the degree, in that an extensive course of electives will hereafter be offered to the students in this department. The first year work will remain a prescribed course, the only elective study open to the junior law students being a course in courts and their jurisdiction, the principal object of which was to give the new students an insight into the principles which they will have to watch throughout the rest of their work in the school. This will take the place of the former work in elementary law. The degree to be given will depend upon the number of hours of work accomplished, instead of on the covering of specified subjects. Arrangements are being made for a course of additional electives to be exchanged with the college of letters and science.

Harvard Man on Faculty.
The work in trusts and bankruptcy will be assigned to E. S. Mack of Milwaukee, who has conducted the course in common law pleading during the year just past. He will continue this work next year in addition to that just mentioned.

One new instructor has been added to the teaching force of the school, in Hugo Claude Horack, who will have charge of the work in personal property, insurance, admiralty and conflict of laws. Mr. Horack is at present doing graduate work in the Harvard law school, having received the degree of bachelor of philosophy from the University of Iowa in 1899 and that of bachelor of laws from the same institution a year later. He is a member of the Phi Beta Kappa honorary fraternity, and is at present editor of the Harvard Law School Review.

Let everyone, elevated by its protection, stand before it impressed with reverence and uncover as it passes by, and let them gather it to their breasts with a loving embrace, as they would

MARKET REPORTS ON WHAT TO BUY

GREEN VEGETABLES ARE NOW ON THE MARKET.

MANY GROWN IN THE CITY

Berries Come from Illinois Yet—
Delicacies of the Season
Named.

Because of the lateness of the spring season, home-grown vegetables are still a thing of the future as far as the local market is concerned. It is expected that in about two weeks home-grown products of the garden will be offered for sale. However, the vegetables and fruits now on the market are fresh and in excellent condition. Most of them are grown in Illinois.

On Thursday strawberries rose in price from three boxes for a quarter to two boxes for a quarter. Otherwise there has been no great change in market prices from those of last week. Home-grown strawberries are expected in two or three weeks. They will probably sell for 12 cents a box to begin with. This is the season for bananas and the ripest and best may be had in prices ranging from 10 to 20 cents. Oranges are very cheap, although the season is waning. They may be had from 10 to 35 cents a dozen. Last week they sold from 10 to 25 cents a dozen. Aside from the prices above mentioned, the figures on the market stand almost the same as last week. The big changes in prices will come inside of three weeks, when the home-grown articles are put on sale.

"RALLY TO THE COLORS" JUNE 14

Every Patriotic Citizen Should Help
Celebrate the Birth of the American Flag.

The near approach of June 14th should remind every patriotic citizen that the One hundred and twenty-seventh anniversary of the birth of the United States Flag should be recognized and observed.

For more than a century and a quarter this flag has triumphantly floated in honor—a beautiful token of perfect liberty.

It has never been borne on an oppressive mission, nor ever lowered in disgrace.

It was conceived through the weakness of States; born in the travail of War; nourished in the cradle of Liberty; and, gathering strength through the years of a century or more, has reached the splendid stature of its prime that measures favorably with any figure in the group of Nations.

There is, perhaps, no inanimate object on the face of the globe, with more expressive life, than the flag of our country. It seems to be eloquent in an universal language all may understand. When it spreads its folds of red and white and blue, rippling in sunlight, it betokens victory, dignity, joy, power and command; when it droops, it symbolizes compassion and sorrow; and, draped over the casket of its protector and defender, it means regard and history—a becoming shroud for the soldier dead.

The defence of the flag was the soldier's mission of the Civil War; the preservation of it is the mission of every American citizen living under it.

The flag is the signal of protection; whether against foreign or domestic foe, the invader or law breaker, the revolutionist, socialist or anarchist. It is a sign the nation has set up, proclaiming freedom to all, protection and humanity.

The robe of justice:
It invites the oppressed to rally beneath its folds; it warns against trespass within its sacred precincts.

IT IS A BEAUTIFUL FLAG!

Let everyone, elevated by its protection, stand before it impressed with reverence and uncover as it passes by, and let them gather it to their breasts with a loving embrace, as they would fold an idol child they thought they had lost.

After ten years of earnest endeavor, the several States have enacted laws providing for the display of the flag over the School-houses of all districts where patriotism reigns under it, millions of children, who will govern the country in the next decade or two, are being educated to be loyal citizens.

The country saved by valor and sacrifice is made more secure, year after year, as mind after mind absorbs the value of true patriotism. So then, fellow-citizens, let us hoist the flag on its coming birthday. It will mean that each home, beneath its protection, is a fortress to resist the approach of every foe. Over this Castle of Liberty let the flag fly, a signal of human freedom in its highest conception, and the equality of man, of whatever race, that is the creation of infinite thought.

Fly it from every house-top—every public building—the shipping—from every movable vehicle—that the world may know the American people honor the birthday of the flag, the love of which is the Nation's safety—as necessary as preparation for war.

...Forty Years Ago...

Janesville Daily Gazette, Wednesday, June 1, 1861.—The Ladies of the Soldiers Aid society are requested to meet at their rooms tomorrow at the usual hour. Per Order.

Personal.—We received a call today from Mr. Mack, local editor of La Fayette, Ind. Courier. He represents business in that town as flourishing.

Horse of Another Color.—We yesterday killed the valuable stallion of J. & C. Clark, by drowning him in the race. The item was entirely correct except in a few particulars. In the first place the animal that was drowned was not a horse at all, but a mare; secondly, she did not belong to Messrs. Clark; in the third place, her value was much nearer 1,000 cents than $1,000. One of the owners of John Bull who was in the country with the horse, was much surprised on arriving in town with him this morning to find that we had written the animal's obituary. There will be many glad to know that he is not hor (see de combat).

Sabbath School Convention.—It may be generally understood that the State Sabbath school which will be held in the city of Janesville on the 14, 15 and 16 of this month, will probably bring to our city from four to five hundred people from abroad, who will expect to be entertained by our citizens free of charge. This is the established custom of such gatherings, and the hearts and homes of our citizens must be freely opened if we should sustain our well earned reputation for hospitality. At a preliminary meeting held last evening, committees were appointed to canvass the city and ascertain who will entertain our Sabbath school friends. The committees were appointed as follows:

First ward—J. T. Wright and George Belle.

Second ward—James Sutherland and J. H. Crosby.

Third ward—O. J. Dearborn and John H. Wingo.

Fourth ward—E. S. Barrows and B. F. Pendleton.

It is hoped that there will be a cheerful and generous response to the calls of the committees. The labors of these committees will be arduous and those who are willing to open their homes will save the committee much trouble by notifying them of the fact at their places of business. Per Order.

Craters of the Moon.

It is estimated from recent photographs of the craters of the moon that they are over 200,000 in number. Prof. Pickering thinks that the white patches in some craters and the numerous bright radiating lines are due to snow and the less conspicuous lunar canals, which gradually appear, increase and fade away. In the lunar day, are attributable by the same authority to vegetation.

An Animal Story For Little Folks

MR. ROOSTER LEARNS SOMETHING

Mr. Rooster finished his breakfast and picked up a book to read. He was a great reader and he liked books. "This is good," he said, as he glanced down the page.

"What is?" asked his wife.

"I'll read it," answered Mr. Rooster, and he read:

"Never let a day go by without learning something."

"That is very good," said his wife.

Mr. Rooster laid the book down and strolled out into the street.

"I wonder what I can learn today?" he said to himself.

Several boys were gathered in the street about a big red thing that looked like a very fat bologna sausage to Mr. Rooster. As he looked on the boys turned and ran away.

"That is foolish," said Mr. Rooster. "They should have waited and learned."

IT SENT HIM FORTY FEET IN THE AIR.

what the thing is. Now I shall go over there and learn something."

So he strutted over to the big red thing and looked at it all around and at both ends, but he couldn't make out what it was.

"All I see," said he as he perched himself on top of the affair—"all I see is a little lizzing fire over at this end."

At this very moment there was a terrible explosion as the firecracker went off.

Forty feet in the air it sent Mr. Rooster. Every feather in his tail and half the feathers on his back were blown out. His eyes were filled with powder; his feet were burned to blisters.

When he landed on the ground he didn't know whether he was dead or alive.

He finally pulled himself together and hobbled home to roost as best he could.

"Have you learned anything today?" asked his wife as he entered the chicken house.

"Yes," he answered. "I've learned something, but I don't know what it is."—Pittsburg Dispatch.

An Animal Story For Little Folks

A True Patriot

Toby was the baby of the family, and though they made a clown of him, he was no fool.

More than that, Toby was a great patriot.

His trainer had dressed him up in the stars and stripes, and Toby was very proud of that.

"Greatest day of my life when I got into them jeans," he used to say. "Mean to stand up for the flag, and anybody who steps on that suit of mine will have to step on me," all of which was literally true.

One day the clown came into the ring dressed as a Spaniard, with a funny Spanish hat on one side of his little head.

"Ought to be ashamed of himself," argued Toby, "to wear such a rig as that in the presence of the stars and stripes. I just won't set with him; that's all." And Toby sat down on his ample haunches.

"Get up, you!" shouted the clown.

But Toby never winked.

"Gwan out or here," cried the little fellow, "or I'll bang yer one!"

This was too much for Toby.

"He's insulting the American flag," he muttered. "I don't care for myself, but no feller in the Spanish rig is going to hit this flag." And he put back his two enormous ears.

"Hit me if you will, but spare Old Glory," said Toby in true Barbara Fritchie style.

The clown was angry. He brought his whip down on Toby—thwack!

Toby knocked him down with his left ear and spanked him with his right. As he did so he cried, "That's Manila Bay, and that's Santiago!"

They never saw that Spanish rig again—Atlanta Constitution.

Cost of Illness.

The working classes of England, according to the bishop of Chester lose $3,000,000 in wages through illness in the course of a year.

Deadly Sleeping Sickness.

One peculiarity of the sleeping sickness, which is causing much havoc among the natives of Uganda, is that for a year or longer the victim may seem perfectly well, and often the disease makes itself first known by untimely patient, who, instead of sleeping, dies of exaltation on the part of is very much awake.

Japanese Cats.

Cat fanciers all agree that Japan indeed is the country of curious felines, and surely no example of the freak in the cat family is more singular than the tallness variety which abounds in the Land of the Rising Sun. For the most part the cats of Japan are minus a brush, although they sometimes have a tallness undeveloped and a small tuft of hair.

Jews in Russia.

There are at present over 5,000,000 Jews in Russia. It is estimated that since the "Laws of May" more than 600,000 of them have been driven out of the villages and compelled to increase the overcrowding in the ghettos of the cities.

Human Reincarnation.

For the benefit of those who may feel "exclusive" or who prate about blue blood, etc. it will be well to remember that if we go back but twenty generations or 700 years, each one of us has 1,081,576 ancestors, and is related more or less closely to at least 270,000,000 of our fellows.

A Good Point.

Most folks are not only known by the company they keep, but by the things they should have done, and didn't.

When a man is content with what he is, he is never content with what he has.—Chicago Tribune.

REFLECTIONS OF A BACHELOR.

It is high art in a woman to learn to blush at things there is no need to.

It's the man who won't have a boss in politics that knuckles under to one at home.

A woman's idea of a good husband is one who will let her boss the man who is making the garden, though he really knows how to do it.

A woman's idea of a princely fortune would be to be able to go buy a sixty-dollar hat and give a starving beggar on the way a nickel.

A woman is very proud of herself when she has faith enough in a man to believe he is working at the office when she knows he is at the race track.—New York Press.

Without strong affection, and humanity of heart, and gratitude to that being whose code is mercy, and whose great attribute is benevolence to all things that breathe, true happiness can never be attained.—Charles Dickens.

YOUNG WIFEHOOD

Boston, Mass., 152 Shawmut Ave., Oct. 25, 1902.

After I had been married about four months I felt my health generally decline. I seemed to lose the light step and dragged wearily along instead. My appetite failed me and I lost health and strength. I was nervous and had shooting pains through my limbs and stomach while hours of constant and constant headaches added to my misery. The menstrual flow became more and more profuse and I was unfit to attend to my daily duties. My husband called in three different physicians and I took enough medicine to kill or cure a dozen women, but it all had no effect on me whatever, until I took Wine of Cardui. In a few days I felt a change for the better, my general health improved and at the next time of my periods my flow was more natural and I was in less pain. Gradually I recovered my health and strength and am now in perfect health. I take an occasional dose of Wine of Cardui which keeps me well.

I am happy to give you this endorsement.

Betty Ricker

President, Back Bay Woman's Club.

Why don't you try for the same health Mrs. Ricker has? It is easy to secure if you take Wine of Cardui according to directions. Wine of Cardui strengthens weak and worn-out women of any age and assists the mother and housewife to bear her exacting duties. Wine of Cardui makes women fit for all the duties of womanhood.

It will relieve the pains of irregularity, cures falling of the womb, leucorrhoea, ovarian troubles, and has been known to remove what physicians considered dangerous tumors. Women who use Wine of Cardui do not suffer at the monthly periods. They do not suffer hysterical attacks, because Wine of Cardui gives them strong nerves freed from the irritation of female suffering.

A $1.00 bottle of Wine of Cardui purchased from your druggist will keep you free from pain.

THE FATHER CONFESSOR.

So much ignorance and prejudice prevails concerning "the banker" that the following statement from the pen of J. A. Graves, vice president Farmers and Merchants National, of Los Angeles, will be read with interest. Mr. Graves recently delivered an address on "Moral Duties and Obligations," of which this extract was a part. He said:

"The banker of deserved good standing and good reputation becomes more than a trustee for his particular following. He becomes, as it were, the father confessor of the financial sins and shortcomings of his patrons. To him comes the widow with her mite, or her millions, for investment upon his advice.

To him comes the anxious father to borrow money to save the good name of the family from disgrace, and an ungrateful son from the penitentiary, or a wayward daughter from want and shame and abuse at the hands of an unprincipled husband. To him comes the aged merchant, who has fallen behind the times and is unable to cope with modern methods; or, with energy of younger competitors, and who with a bank account already overdrawn, cannot meet his maturing paper, imploring the loan he knows he has no right to ask.

"To him comes the contractor, ruined by the walking delegate or other misfortunes he could not anticipate, appealing for relief to save him from the depths. To him comes the adventurer and the get-rich-quick schemer, suave, impressive and magnetic, armed with letters of introduction that should never have been signed, seeking influence to float his plausible but dishonest schemes.

"To him comes the owner of riches dishonestly acquired, seeking the means for further accumulations. To him also comes the victim of dire poverty, without security or backing, claiming financial assistance on the ground of favors rendered to the bank or by him in his more prosperous days. Thus runs the endless chain along.

"Yet the banker, to be true to his trust, must not yield one jot or tittle from the fixed rules of finance and good banking, even though he feels the milk of human kindness impelling him to sympathy and to the disregard of his sacred trust. Should he desire to aid or assist a man from charity or from gratitude for past favors extended, he should do it personally and not out of the bank's funds.

"It is an old saying that any captain can sail a ship in fair weather.

"This saying will not apply to the banker. The banker's ability to properly serve his beneficiaries in fair weather is the test of his ability to ride successfully the turbulent waves of a financial storm, grinding hard times till the tale whether he has been faithful to his trust during good times; whether he has been careful in his loans and his investments; whether he has at all times subordinated his own interests to the interests of his bank, or whether he has allowed sympathy or friendship to override his judgment."

THOUGHT IS CONVINCING.

The men who watched the proceedings of the gymnasium convention at Madison, not as delegates, but as spectators, were constantly asking themselves the question: "Can it be possible that 500 men, or more, of sound mind and possessed of average intelligence, can continue to vote as a unit in favor of fraud and injustice and keep up the farce, without a break, for four straight hours?"

This demonstration proved the statement so often made, that men are of personal convictions. The audience, outside of the delegates, was composed largely of the governor's supporters, loyal to their constituents, regardless as it was extremely difficult for any other class to gain admission.

While much enthusiasm was manifested over the defeat of every plea for fair treatment and justice, there were plenty of men present who recognized the injustice of the situation and who were ready at the first opportunity to denounce the methods pursued. Among this class were Rev. Updike and Attorney Frank W. Hall, of Madison, and Mr. Luchinsinger, of Monroe.

These three men were prominent and well known throughout the state, but there were hundreds of others, represented both in the audience and delegation, who were similarly impressed, and when the time comes to speak in November they will be found on the side of justice.

Dr. Updike offered the opening prayer at the convention, and was present during the session. He says of the proceedings:

"I can not approve of the action of the old republican state central committee in barring delegates having credentials regular on their face from sitting in the recent state convention in the university gymnasium and depriving the convention itself, or that portion of it composed of uncontested delegates, from passing upon the eligibility of contested delegates to sit in the gathering.

"To deprive a convention of the right of deciding who are entitled to seats in it and to participate in its deliberations seems to me to be contrary to one of the fundamental principles upon which our present political system is based," continued Mr. Updike.

"I was present in the convention during the discussion on the majority and minority reports of the state central committee and it seemed to me that the contention of the minority report that the delegates having regular credentials were entitled to seats in the temporary organization was right and just. The contention of the other side means that a few men composing a committee can in reality decide the complexion of a convention, notwithstanding the character of the credentials held by the delegates applying for seats.

"If under the present system a committee can be sustained in exercising such power it seems to me that it will be necessary to amend the law so as to deprive it of such power. In my opinion the authority to determine who shall sit in a convention should, and I believe does, rest with the convention itself."

Dr. Updike is pastor of the First Congregational church, of Madison, and has always been a staunch supporter and great admirer of Governor La Follette.

Mr. Luchinsinger, the Monroe attorney, who was also present, after denouncing the proceedings as illegal, as well as unjust, says:

"As to Gov. La Follette, bright man that he is, and advocating the principles that many even of the opposition can not help but subscribe, he should have found that men must be allowed of their own volition to take a stand for even what is considered to be right, and that they can not be forced, through coercive influences of one sort or another, to assume the same position. Men are men, and they are adverse to being treated as dumb, driven cattle.

"Where Mr. La Follette has made another mistake, as I view his personal actions, was in going out and mixing up in a congressional campaign fight for the pithy object of defeating a certain candidate for office. I consider that he went out of his way to satisfy either a political or personal grudge, and actions governed by such motives do not appeal to me.

"Another thing. The prevailing spirit seems to be to work for the man rather than the principle; to elevate a champion of principles to which we may subscribe to the attitude of a god. Now I believe that if God had intended men to be of the immortals he would have caused wings to sprout beneath their shoulder blades, and, proceeding along this line to the logical deduction, I believe that should Gov. Robert M. La Follette be lost to the state things in general would continue to wag along on much the same old way."

These expressions, from men who think, are simply echoes from a convention which has no parallel in the history of the state. They are well worth reading and digesting by republicans. They are not partisan, but the candid statements from honest men and they ring with truth.

RUSSIAN RAILROADS.

The total distance from St. Petersburg to Port Arthur by the Russian Trans-Siberian railway and the Russian lines in Manchuria is 5,013 miles, or practically twice the distance from New York to San Francisco, says the Financial Review.

The Russo-Turkish war in 1878-79 caused an almost entire suspension of railway building. It was only during the decade beginning with 1880 that activity in this field was again resumed, but the character and method of construction of the newly built roads changed abruptly. In place of the former trunk lines, connecting either the black-sea area with the seaboard of the Baltic, Azov and Black seas, or with the central industrial region around Moscow, these years witnessed the construction of great strategic railroads, such as the Trans-Caspian, the Polesie system, besides roads primarily destined for the service of relatively small though important industrial regions (Catherine line, Ivankovo-Dombrov). Moreover, the system of granting franchises (concessions) was superseded by the building and working of roads directly by and on account of the state. At the same time the redemption by the government of great railway systems was going on, so that for some time it seemed as if all private roads were going to be acquired by the state. Although of late greater latitude has been given private initiative, by far the greater part of Russian railways is in the hands of the government. Out of 36,673 miles under the control of the ministry of communication on January 1, 1901, 24,136 are worked by the state, and 12,537 miles only by private companies.

TERSE SENTENCES.

In this world no privilege can be permanently appropriated by men who have not the power and the will successfully to assume the responsibility of using it aright.

They stood for the life of effort, not the life of ease. They had that love of country, that love of justice, that love of their fellow-men, without which power and resourcefulness efficiency but make a man a danger to his fellows.

We can make and keep this country worthy of the men who gave their lives to save it, only on condition that the average man among us on the whole does his duty bravely, loyally, and with common sense, in whatever position life allots to him.

National greatness is of slow growth. It can not be forced and yet be stable and enduring; for it is based fundamentally upon national character, and national character is stamped deep in a people by the lives of many generations. — President Roosevelt's Gettysburg Speech.

The Wall Street Journal very truthfully says: "The people of this country are in no mood for tyranny in any of its forms, and have no faith in the 'divine right' of capital theory. Moreover, they have no desire to temporize with the questions of the regulation of the trusts or the organization of labor. But they will never vote in favor of a policy that would upset the foundations, cause ruin to business, and set back the development of this continent many years. They will never take part knowingly in an assault upon property, for a majority of the people are capitalists, and a very large proportion of them are directly or indirectly investors in securities.

The death of Senator Quay removes from the stage of action a unique character, and a man who was subject to more abuse than often falls to the lot of public men. Senator Quay was a successful politician and to this fact was largely due the enmity which was so bitter against him within the ranks of his own party. He was a statesman and his private life was above reproach.

President Roosevelt's Gettysburg speech was characteristic of the man. Strong and forceful, yet considerate, it pleased his audience, and the sentiment expressed will be endorsed by the people of the nation, without regard to locality.

PRESS COMMENT.

Chicago Tribune: There is danger that the late Thomas Jefferson will lose some of his popularity in Texas. The new 2 cent stamps emphasize the fact that he parted his hair in the middle.

Superior Telegram: Why not make the opening day of the baseball season in Superior a half holiday? Close up the places of business, take a little recreation and give the boys an ovation!

Green Bay Gazette: In exhibiting their disregard for authority by hissing President Van Hise the other day the students of the University of Wisconsin only followed the example given them recently by the entire state administration.

La Crosse Chronicle: Wisconsin is now on the map and before the national convention is over probably will have more advertising than it has had before all told, notwithstanding the strenuous efforts of Gov. La Follette in his celebrated address on "Representative Government."

Evening Wisconsin: The mills of God grind slowly but exceedingly fine, and before the Third-Termers consider themselves cured of securing a victory by expelling lawfully elected delegates, they will find that there is a people in this commonwealth who can remember and who can punish.

Shawano Journal: Here is another problem in politics for the advanced class: If stalwarts vote for democrat for governor and half-breeds vote for democrats for the legislature, who will be the next United States senator from Wisconsin?

Neenah Times: The bolt against Mr. Cook by his home paper will not reduce his vote in Neenah, but, on the contrary, will greatly add to it. Fair play as well as consistency is a jewel, and treachery is—well, Mr. Cook's friends will now work all the harder for him. And they ought to.

El Paso Herald: Uncle Sam has shut the lid down on his Panama zone with a crash. Gen. Davis issuing an order prohibiting the roulette wheel to roll and the lottery ticket vendor to vend. However, they will only have to move four or five miles over the line and start anew.

Milwaukee Free Press: "I am going to get all of the profit I can," said Divine Right Isaac to a lawyer in the interstate commerce commission the other day. "I propose to sell my coal at as high a price as people will sell for it." Mr. Isaac will find that a little of this kind of talk will go far. What he proposes to do is to charge for his coal what the people will pay for it rather than freeze during the cold months of the year, and rather than starve during all of the year; for coal is a necessary commodity to pretty near all of the people. Mr. Isaac has the monopolistic creed down line. It is to get out of business all that the people will stand.

Milwaukee Sentinel: The words of President Roosevelt, who said in a telegram to Mrs. Quay expressing sympathy for the bereaved family, "Throughout my term as president Senator Quay has been my staunch and loyal friend," are all that is required to fix the standing of the dead Pennsylvania senator as a figure in national politics.

Evening Wisconsin: A trolley line from Green Bay to Marinette, as is proposed, would give people along the west shore of Green Bay new opportunity for getting to Milwaukee, as the line would eventually form a part of a continuous interurban railroad, reaching the state's metropolis. In this way the lines of electric railroads radiating from Milwaukee will eventually become valuable business feeders.

Fond du Lac Commonwealth: Mayor Mulva, of Oshkosh, has determined that the Green Bay, Oshkosh, Madison & Southeastern road must show its hand. This corporation is the offshoot of the movement which set out by running a survey from Madison to Fond du Lac and thence to Oshkosh. Later Fond du Lac was taken off the map. Now the company is playing its cards to get bonds to the amount of $100,000 from Oshkosh. The mayor evidently has doubts about its being worth the price.

Grant County Herald: We recently overheard a farmer, who is reputed to be a man of good education, and to have plenty of sound common sense, talking about "farming in the moon." This farmer insisted that all cereals would do better if planted in the "light of the moon," and that certain vegetables would do better if planted in the dark of the moon. He also discussed very learnedly about wet moons, dry moons, cold moons and divers other moons not ordinarily discussed. According to this farmer the moon is the whole show, and everything terrestrial is regulated by this luminary. He remarked that there is a certain condition of the moon in which to make gardens, kill hogs, cut weeds, pick ducks, white-wash, fences and dig posts. Such theories were well enough a hundred years ago, when the farmers did not have the advantages of education like they have at present, but for a college educated man in this enlightened age, to believe in such superstitions is ridiculous.

JACK HESS DEAD AT FOND DU LAC

NOTORIOUS JAIL-BREAKER DIED
BEFORE SENTENCE EXPIRED

THIRTY YEARS A BURGLAR

Sent From Janesville to a Reformatory at an Early Age, He Followed a Career of Crime.

Jack Hess the jail-breaker, as light hearted and daring a criminal as ever fared forth upon the highway from Janesville, closed his checkered career in the Fond du Lac lock-up last evening. The "call of the road" had told heavily on him of late years. He has grown tall and gaunt and his hair was white. A general breaking down of his system and consumption are given as the cause of his death.

Life flickered but a few hours before his twenty day sentence for vagrancy had expired.

Brothers Tom and John. The Hess family lived in the second ward in Janesville many years ago. The father was killed during the Civil War and the mother is long since dead. Only a daughter, Margaret, who is married and living in Montana, and a son, Tom, who is now serving a sentence at Stillwater for robbing the Footville postoffice, three years ago, survive. Jack was a jovial, good natured offender and though a daring burglar, was never known to have done anyone physical harm. His brother, Tom, "Wisconsin Tommy," as he has come to be known throughout the state, belongs to a higher class of criminals—the postoffice crooks. He is quiet and reserved and is a man of much ability. The two commenced their careers simultaneously, at a tender age, being sent to a reformatory when very young. Jails and prison walls have known them both for a period of nearly thirty years.

Two Escapes From Jail. Jack found a keen delight in outwitting the officers and kept them uneasy in this locality for many years. During Sheriff Ward's regime he escaped from jail through the chimney and on another occasion he slipped his handcuffs while on the way to Fond du Lac with a deputy. One of his notorious escapes was effected during the late eighties when he was tried for burglarizing A. D. Sanborn's second hand store on North Main street, convicted, and sentenced to a term in state's prison. T. S. Nolan defended him and on the way back to jail with the turn-key Hess remarked that Tommy, Nolan had told him that he would never go to prison, and that settled it—he wasn't. That was on a Saturday. Sometime before Sunday night he secured an iron pump-handle, loosened one of the large pieces of stone in the wall, pulled it out, and made his escape. Nor did Sheriff Addison ever lay hands upon the man again.

Gave City Wide Berth. After that Jack's visits were infrequent and he remained over the northern and western part of the state, frequently falling into the clutches of the law and almost as often slipping out of its grasp. He was sent to prison on a few times for short terms, but always resumed his old habits as soon as released. Charles Murphy, a railroad man, saw him at Jefferson Junction a few weeks ago but aside from this instance he seems to have been lost sight of during the past few years. He would pay Janesville an occasional visit but never remained long. He told an acquaintance once that he thought he owed it to this community, his birthplace, to give it a rest during the balance of his life. He is believed to have been about forty-six years old.

MADISON DONS HER GALA DRESS

FOR THE BIG PICNIC OF THE MODERN WOODMEN.

GOVERNOR WELCOMES HOST

And Big Baseball Game at Camp Randall Attracts a Large Crowd.

Madison, Wis., June 1.—Madison is in gala dress and full of strangers today for the great annual picnic of the Southern Wisconsin and Northern Illinois Woodmen Men's association. The business houses, particularly around the capitol park, are decorated with flags, bunting and emblems of the order, and the decorations are extended to the state capitol and other public buildings. Business was generally suspended after the noon hour and the people of Madison joining with the visitors in the celebration.

Visitors Throng City.
Special trains on the Northwestern and the Milwaukee roads early brought hundreds of visitors from Janesville, and vicinity and Florence Camp is well represented. Early in the afternoon Governor La Follette and Mayor W. D. Curtis made addresses of welcome to the visitors and Head Consul Talbot and other leading officers of the Woodmen delivered addresses. After this there was a program of fancy marching by uniformed Foresters' teams for prizes.

Big Baseball Game.
The afternoon was spent by the throngs at the capitol park, the several lakeside resorts, the state university buildings and grounds and at the Three "I" league game of baseball at Camp Randall between the teams of Rockford and Dubuque. The baseball game was one of the leading features of the day for the general visitors, particularly those who are not deeply interested in the things of the order of Woodmen. It is the first opportunity Madison has had to entertain a large game of professional baseball, as the university teams largely monopolize the athletic interest here.

Fifield now withdraws to devote his entire attention to property interests in Beloit. The business will be conducted hereafter by A. F. Hall and W. P. Sayles.

CELEBRATED THEIR GOLDEN WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. Thiele of Whitewater, Parents of Prof. Thiele, Observe Important Event.

The Whitewater Register of May 31st contains the following complimentary notice of the golden wedding anniversary of Prof. W. T. Thiele's parents, at Whitewater:
"It is seldom allotted a man and woman to live fifty years together and more seldom still when such a period of married life is coveted, for the couple to find they have so lived that friends, neighbors and all are as ready and anxious to express their regard as were those who assisted in making last Friday a memorable anniversary for Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Thiele.

H. F. Thiele and Barbara Loetz of Jefferson were married in Delavan at the home of Mr. Thiele's brother on the 27th of May, 1854. For a year they lived in Fort Atkinson then came to Whitewater where the have since made their home. In those years Mr. Thiele has proved a good substantial citizen and Mrs. Thiele has mothered and advised wisely many young people who perplexed and in trouble have sought counsel of her.

At eleven thirty on Friday morning, Rev. Dr. Rihly gave communion to Mr. and Mrs. Thiele at St. Luke's church. Then followed a dinner to eighty friends and relatives at the Guild hall; this was provided by the ladies of the Guild. Mr. N. M. Littlejohn was to make an address and remarks on the presentation of a gift from Whitewater business men, but was called from the city, and was unable to return in time. Dr. Rihly of Madison spoke in his place and Mr. Thiele in response thanked the friends for their generous and substantial expression of esteem. A reception was held in the evening from seven to ten. No less than four hundred people attended, all of whom were served with light refreshments. Both bride and groom were the recipients of other gifts from different organizations and individuals.

Sunday Ball Game. On Sunday next the ball team which defeated the First ward players last Sunday will cross bats with the Red Sox at Bunker Hill. This game should be an interesting one to witness.

TO INVESTIGATE THE K. OF C. ORDER

It is Understood That is a Part of Cardinal Satolli's Mission to the United States.

Cardinal Satolli, who will arrive in Washington from Rome on June 5, bearing an order from the pope barring non-Catholics from the faculty of the Catholic university, will, according to persistent reports, devote much of his time while in this country to an investigation of the Knights of Columbus, now numbering 100,000 members and one of the most influential Catholic orders in the country. It is understood that certain distinguished prelates including Archbishop Ireland, Archbishop Farley of New York, have lodged complaints against the workings of the order. They are not understood to be of a very serious nature, but the outcome will be awaited with interest in Janesville as well as other cities where there are large, flourishing councils. Satolli will make an exhaustive study of the society's ritual and will summon the national officers to confer with him.

THIRD YEAR OF HIS PASTORATE

Reception for New Members at Baptist Church on Anniversary of Rev. Vaughan's Advent Here.

At the First Baptist church parlors last evening, thirty-two new members of the congregation were entertained at a reception and a very pleasurable evening was passed. All wore blue ribbons bearing some appropriate inscription. Mrs. Cora Anderson sang a song with violin accompaniment by Mr. Williams. Miss Lindie Decker gave several readings and in a brief symposium on "The Open Door" Mrs. A. C. Campbell spoke for the ladies. Ernest Clark for the young people, and Judge H. L. Dunwiddie for the men. This was followed by a solo by Miss Bessie Grainger, after which delicious refreshments were served by the Ladies' Aid Society. The close of the third prosperous and successful year of Rev. Vaughan's pastorate was signified by this gathering.

EIGHT ATHLETES TO ATTEND THE MEET

Janesville High School Representatives Hope to Make Creditable Showing at Madison Saturday.

Janesville will send at least eight athletes to the state high school meet in Madison Saturday. Myers and F. Davies will compete in the quarter, Greene and F. Fisher in the mile, A. Smith and Tracy in the half mile, Tallman in the high hurdles and running broad jump, Flaherty in the shotput, and Carle (possibly) in the discus and hammer throw. The relay team composed of Myers, Davies, Tallman, and Smith, is as yet unbeaten and is expected to give a good account of itself. Myers will have as a competitor in the quarter mile a Milwaukee boy who has been running in 52 flat. Chances for a place in the shotput and half mile are regarded as good. The state decamatory contest will also be held in Madison on the same day. Roy Harvey of Delavan will represent the White water district which includes Janesville. Under a new ruling the seconds in district contests do not compete in the finals and Miss Ethel Bates will therefore not appear.

A NARROW ESCAPE FROM AWFUL DEATH

Warren Parker Thrown from Rig Onto Track Before Approaching Car—Leg Was Broken.

Warren Parker, of the town of La Prairie, sustained a terrible accident in a runaway just beyond Yost's station at eight o'clock Monday evening and narrowly escaped with his life. A young colt which he was driving became frightened while passing the southbound car which had been brought to a stop on the switch, awaiting the arrival of the northbound, and Fred Baker, who was in the front of the former, saw the vehicle overturn onto the track a few rods ahead. The man did not rise. Realizing that the other car would probably run him down, Mr. Baker sped to his assistance and finding the man in a semi-unconscious state, was dragging him off the rails when more assistance arrived. They were none too early, for a few seconds later the northbound car rounded the curve and whirled onto the siding. It was found upon examination that Mr. Parker had sustained a compound fracture of the left limb just below the hip and the broken bone had almost penetrated the skin. He was taken to the emergency hospital at Beloit and his relatives notified. Mr. Parker is about twenty-five years of age.

ARE BOOMING THE ROSEBUD AGENCY

Northwestern Road Sings the Praises of the Great Fertile Sioux Indian Land.

Some two years ago the Chicago & North-Western R.R. built the Verdugo and Bonesteel line to the eastern border of the Rosebud Indian Reservation, thus securing the only direct line from Chicago, Minneapolis, St. Paul, Sioux City, Omaha and other points in the west to the fertile region which is now to be thrown open to settlement under the United States homestead laws.

Under President Roosevelt's proclamation United States registry land offices are to be opened July 5th at Yankton, Fairfax and Bonesteel, S. D., for the registration of applicants for these lands. The registration books will remain open until July 23d, and commencing July 28th, drawings will take place, to determine the order in which the applicants will be permitted to make final entry and settlement.

The final entry begins at Bonesteel, August 8th. No one is permitted to register or make entry to land by mail, but must be personally present at one of the three points named for registration and at Bonesteel for final entry.

The lands are well watered by the Missouri, Niobrara and White rivers and are remarkably fertile, situated in the midst of the great corn belt of the Missouri Valley, where similar land is worth from $20 to $50 an acre. With an altitude of about 2,200 feet, they are in a region which cannot be excelled for healthfulness.

A heavy influx of people is looked for at these points of registration, and everything possible is being done by the North-Western Line to spread broadcast all information in the shape of maps and folders that is of interest to applicants for these lands.

Bowley Will Pitch—Bowley, of the Freeport team, will pitch for the Clinton Maroons in their game with the Chicago Union Giants at the Athletic park in Janesville next Thursday.

He is secretary of the local Deacons club and headed a delegation to Springfield in the interests of Deacons when the convention was first called. After the convention adjourned Banks came home and soon was taken ill. Four physicians have pronounced his sickness smallpox in a well-developed form and say he must have contracted the malady in Springfield or on the road. In addition to Banks, Judge Wales Wood, a delegate, is very ill as a result of the hardships experienced at the convention. SSS THE OLDEST AND BEST BLOOD PURIFIER

THE GREATEST OF ALL TONICS.

A Spring Medicine that adds vigor and strength to the system, purifies and enriches the Blood, and lays the foundation for a strong constitution and good health during the hot sultry summer.

Most everybody feels bad in the spring. Some have no particular ailment but are just tired, worn out and totally unfit for work or anything else that requires energy or effort. They mope around upon the border-land of invalidism, irritable, peevish, hysterical and unreasonable.

A good appetite in the spring is a rarity, and we sicken at the sight of food, or thought of eating, and what little we do eat is a burden to the stomach and a tax upon the digestion.

Warm weather is sure to bring out the hidden poisons, germs and seeds of disease that have been collecting in the blood and system during winter, and you may look for some old chronic trouble to make its appearance. It is a time, too, when boils and carbuncles, and pustular or scaly skin eruptions like eczema and tetter, pay their annual visits and make life miserable by their intense pains and intolerable itching and burning.

The fight for health should begin before any warning symptoms of physical collapse are felt, or before the seeds of disease have time to germinate if we would avoid the usual spring sickness; and with S. S. S., the acknowledged king of blood purifiers and greatest of all tonics, you can put your blood and system in such perfect condition and so strengthen the constitution that one may be as free from sickness and as vigorous and strong during the trying months of spring and depressing summer season as at any other time.

S. S. S. not only builds you up, but searches out and destroys any poisonous germs or impurities that may be lurking in the blood. The benefits derived from the use of S. S. S. are permanent because it acts directly on the blood and purifies and cleanses it of all impure matter, leaving nothing to cause fermentation and deterioration of this life-giving fluid.

In selecting your blood purifier and spring tonic get one that long experience and thorough test have proven the best. In S. S. S. you will find a remedy whose purifying properties are unquestionable, and just such a tonic as your system needs. Ask your druggist for S. S. S.—there is nothing else just as good.

For the past 40 years we have had a standing offer of $1,000 for proof that S. S. S. contains the least particle of any mineral whatever, and this offer is still open.
